Together these companies offer trial lawyers and injury victims the most comprehensive and unique financial solutions in the country. Ryan believes in radical transparency and serves clients through his personalized alignment process and investment counseling. Since attending his first mediation, Ryan knew he wanted to serve as an injury victim advocate. The cornerstone of his business is building genuine friendships with clients, understanding their needs, and helping people. He believes he brings candor and honesty to an industry that has confused and misled many individuals. He is an active member of the community, including being a member of the Desert Foothills Lutheran Church, a Wish Granter with Make-A-Wish Arizona, and serving on the Board of Directors for the Arizona Latino Arts and Cultural Center. He and his wife, Perla, live in Scottsdale, where they have three beautiful children and three dogs.
